

A Guide to the Change for Miles and the Quest for Coins Campaign

WHAT IS IT?

Miles Perret Cancer Services designed the Change for Miles service project specifically for students. While it provides an easy and fun way for your child to learn about giving back, it also has a direct impact on the lives of families who are fighting, surviving and living with cancer.

By collecting loose change in a Change for Miles bottle, students can join the Quest for Coins. The primary goal of the Quest is to help students discover the difference their change can make to help local families fight cancer.

The more bottles they fill, the more local families are helped.

WHY PARTICIPATE?

MPCS is a haven for individuals and families fighting, surviving and living with cancer. We provide emotional support, guidance, material resources (nutritional supplements, wigs, turbans, supplies), programs and most of all, hope.

Since 2002 we have served over 16,000 families. Our services are comprehensive with no qualifications and always provided at no charge.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

1. Students are given bottles to collect change and information cards to explain the projects to parents.
2. Students take home the bottles, fill them with change with the help of family and friends, and bring them back by a scheduled deadline.

It's that easy!

YOUR ROLE:

1. Schedule a Kick-Off day and Collection day.
2. Encourage your students to participate.
(Internal incentives or contests are suggested, but optional.)

OUR ROLE:

1. Give a brief presentation to your students, explaining the program and giving them information about Miles Perret Cancer Services.
2. Provide bottles and information cards to take home.
3. Come back on collection day and collect the bottles. Report the collection amounts after counting is complete.
4. Reward your efforts with a commemorative photograph. We also offer a cookie cake to the class that collects the most bottles. (optional)
